PROFILE

I am a professional IT and a programmer with a strong passion for computer science. After coming to Germany in 2022, I managed to learn Python Backend Development, improve my German and start a new life in Germany. I will try to improve myself more as for me, learning never ends.

I have various skills in computer science such as managing, troubleshooting and maintenance of OS, as well as installation and configuration of new networks. I am also proficient in backend development with Python.

With my perseverance I am adept at overcoming any challenges. Additionally, I am self-disciplined and dedicate my self to fulfilling my responsibilities. I seek for new knowledge, embrace for new technologies and strive for self-improvement. I value the innovation and I use my observation skills in troubleshooting various issues.
